he or she might recommend a topical product like advantage or frontline, although these are usually regarded as a last resort by holistic practitioners.

since the prevalence of heavy drinking tends to follow closely with per capita consumption, it is likely...